

CARES brokerage meeting, July 10

Present: Michael, Karolina, Claudia, Reetta, Fil, Jolanta, Mimi, Bradley, Natasha, Paul and Rita

Goal of group: to diagnose the current situation of ECI concerning societal impact, and provide them with tools to better steer their career also by means of societal impact; to make recommendations to science managers et al.

So far, there is a questionnaire and a draft for a toolkit.

Questions regarding methods, sampling and privacy issues concerned with the questionnaire were discussed together with Jolanta.

Alternative methods for providing data were considered, and pros and cons were mentioned: focus groups, national expert interviews, existing data of WG2 fiches, etc.

As the meeting went on, several participants, including Claudia, referred to existing groups which have produced similar products as toolkits, or have actions targeting ECI: Dandelion, Vitae, ROSE, Net for society; the uk experience was also presented by Fil and Bradley.

The possibility of position papers, from CARES as well as from other WGS, was discussed. The purpose would be to create a dialogue with high end stakeholders which have the ability to shape ECIs experiences.

Issues of timing for the CARES action were discussed, in view of upcoming meetings, people's availability, and working programs for each year of the action.

Final decisions

CARES should be considered as a mediator in the dialogue between ECI and high level groups governing science ( including European Commission, LERU, ALLEA, ECIU, net for science, ROSE, Executive agency for research).

Data will be gathered concerning both ends of this dialogue. Data on ECI and societal impact may be obtained by means of focus groups (for instance, in Vienna, next November), the questionnaire on societal impact, the analysis of online p, informal fora for career development for young scholars. Data and initiatives on high level scientific policies oriented towards ECI would be gathered by means of an analysis of existing toolkits for ECIS, and the production of position papers and/or stakeholder events in the topic.

Concerning deadline, one of the decisions was for CARES to keep track of the results of the SIG interview analysis, and eventually postpone most of its initiatives for working year 3, considering ongoing initiatives at the heart of the ENRESSH and the involvement of people in several activities so far.
